The accident happened near the close of the day's slaughter of rabbits and while some of the hunters were returning to the train. In the wagon with young Zachreson were a number of other men, and all were on the lookout for game along the roadside, Finally a stop was made and some of the hunters alighted, among them being Zachreson. As he attempted to climb over the side of the wagon box, his gun, which is supposed to have been cocked.

was in some manner discharged and the load of shot struck the youth midway between the heart and the throat, and death was almost instantan-eous. The terrible accident caused con-eous. The terrible accident caused consternation among the little group with the young man, and when the body arrived at the train the whole party partook of the spirit of horror and the trip to Sait Lake was made with an entire absence of the mirth that characterized the outward journey.

No one in the party knew who the dead man was, and it was not until after the body had been at the undertaking establishment of S. D. Evans for some time that the remains were identi-

JOHN KENDRICK BANGS.

Editor of "Puck" Will Lecture Here Next Friday Evening.

Two more offerings will be presented before the end of December in the Mutual Improvement winter series. One of them is by a famous editor of an American humorous weekly, and the other by an exponent of the latest developments in electricity. Next Friday evening John Kendrick Bangs, edi-tor of Puck, will give an evening on the gospel of humor, and he will be followed Saturday, Dec. 22, by Reno B. Wilbourn on "Electricity."

John Kendrick Bangs is out preach-ing for a bigger place for humor in the American daily life. His talk is entitled, "From Adam to Ade," and the line of descent is followed through the choice spirits who have laughed over their coffee, and jested while the world ran along in its daily course.

Authors are so seldom good personal entertainers, that Salt Lake audiences in the past have sometimes had to take their recompense for attending in the satisfaction of knowing that they had met the man behind some favorite book. Mr. Bangs, his press agent declares, is a tall man, and a seriously modest man. He doesn't talk to make his audience laugh, but to explain to them the need for a more healthful appreciation of humor as a daily exer-cise for the health. His idea is that the home often loses some of its brightest hours because there is nothing in it to supply genuine laughter. Caves take the place of smiles, he says, petty wor-ries drive sentiment a-begging, and troubles are allowed to stand in bold array, where pleasure longs to be king, all because there are human be-ings who fail to comprehend the value

SIX INDICTMENTS TO BE RETURNED IN RABBIT HUNT

Albert Zachreson, Age Seventeen | That Many Sealed Documents in Possession of Marshal Spry.

CREATING SPECULATION.

Would be Interesting to Know the Identity of Men Who Will Have To "Face the Music."

The fact that six sealed document envelopes containing indictments to be returned when the grand jury meets again have been handed to Chief Deputy Lucian Smyth of Marshall Spry's office is creating considerable speculation among those interested in the coal land fraud investigation, Those who are following developments ane hazarding guesses as to the iden-tity of the men who will have "to face the music." The papers were locked up in the safe at the marshal's office over Thanksgiving.

TISTIMONY CHANGED.

It is believed that the government is now after F. W. Spaulding, a Union Pacific attorney at Evanston. Spauld-ing restified at both sessions of the interestate commerce commission held here. The first time under oath he here. The first time under oath intestified that he had bought certain coal lands in Wyoming as a speculation. Money for this speculation had been borrowed from George L. Black of the Union Pacific Coal company. He said that the loan was made in good faith and had been repaid when the deed for transfer had been handed over to the coal company official. On Wednesday he stated that Mr. Black had selected and designated the land to be bought and there was an under-standing that the land would be turned over to the Union Pacific Coal com-pany as soon as patents had been se-cured. At the former session in September Spaulding refused to admit that he had received $200 compensation from the coal company. On Wednesday last, he changed his testimony, With a view to inquiring into an apparent case of perjury a full copy of the testimony of Spaulding given at both sessions of the interstate com-merce commission investigation has been transcribed and handed over to United States Dist. Atty. H. E. Booth for investigation.

IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED.

Extension to be Made to the Auditorium Skating Rink.

Phil S. O'Meara of the Auditorium association on Richards street says that important improvements are to be made to the big structure just as soon as possible. It is planned to erect a building to the north of the skating rink. When the addition is completed the north wall will be removed and the floor space will then be enlarged to the extent of 100 feet. If this space had been available last evening it could easily have been used. The intrior was crowded to its capacity last night with enrhusiastic roller skaters. Ever pair of skates obtainable was in use and the gliding, swaying, twisting skaters presnted a bewildering sight. One visitor remarked; "What's got hold of the people sociation on Richards street says that
